

REFERENCE OF INTERNSHIP

Mr. Duc Anh Hoang, born on 23.02.2000 in Rostock, completed an internship as Associate Consultant with our company between 03.06.2024 and 23.08.2024.

SMP Strategy Consulting GmbH is a renowned strategy consulting firm based in Düsseldorf. Founded in 1998, SMP disposes of an established and comprehensive portfolio of reputable clients from the energy, insurance, banking and telecommunications industries. The focus areas of our business activities lie on the development of sustainable growth, transformation, service and marketing strategies. In 2022, the subsidiary Convalid Analytics was founded, which is specialized in areas like Data Science, Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning. Since 2023 SMP GmbH belongs to the international management and technology consulting group Eraneos, whereby the portfolio has been expanded by technology and implementation competence as well as international delivery capacity.

Within the scope of his activities at SMP Strategy Consulting, Mr. Hoang's tasks focused on the following areas:

➤ Supporting the development of a Process Management and Customer Experience Management Target Operating Model of an Energy Supplier

- Aided the transformation towards an agile, customer-oriented organization
- Designed, executed, and analyzed an interview guide to assess the maturity level of end-to-end process management and customer experience management across the organization
- Conceptualized, prepared, and facilitated workshops with division managers to identify strategic frameworks and action items, including the definition of roles and responsibilities, governance structures, and key performance indicators
- Contributed to the preparation of executive presentations for the management board
- Provided ongoing support to the Project Management Office, actively participating in regular project team meetings
- Visualized customer journeys and participated in an exemplary optimization for a selected process/pilot

In addition to these focus areas, Mr. Hoang supported several project teams in their work, particularly in the area of research – both for ongoing consulting projects and within the scope of acquisition activities of SMP Strategy Consulting GmbH.

Mr. Hoang was able to contribute his excellent analytical and conceptual skills to the project work in a highly successful manner. He was convincing with regard to both the quality and quantity of his work. Particularly remarkable is his ability to effectively support the work of project teams within the scope of ongoing consulting projects as well as with regard to acquisition activities.

The tasks accomplished by Mr. Hoang were always carried out in a well-structured, efficient and methodically well thought out manner. He was characterized by acting in a calm, well-considered, target-oriented and precise manner. His reliability was remarkable at all times.

Mr. Hoang always showed initiative, fully identified himself with the tasks assigned to him and with our firm and convinced us with his high degree of dedication and passion. Even in times of high workloads, he kept a high degree of resilience and always achieved high-quality results. He always accomplished the tasks assigned to him to our complete satisfaction.

Mr. Hoang presented himself as an extremely committed employee, who always showed great interest in his work. He was helpful, courteous and proved to have a distinct ability to work in a team. His friendly and open-minded personality earned him high recognition and esteem among clients, superiors and colleagues alike.

We sincerely thank Mr. Hoang for his valuable contributions. We wish him only the best for his further studies and continued success for his professional career.
