

Structure

Umbrella organisation: Supports the executive board in the management of the entire company. Not all of the members of the umbrella organisation are on the executive board. Amongst others, Hans Paris is on the executive board. The three product divisions are subordinate to the umbrella organisation:

Clean & Wash (CW): Customers are generally private households as well as small and larger companies from the gastronomy and hotel sector. Generally, each brand has its own product positioning. CW offers cleaning agents.

Cosmetics & Body (CB): This area is the most important division of Evergreen Ltd. and it manufactures cosmetics and body care products for an older age group with sensitive skin. Customers include both men and women.

Glue & Hold (GH): GH manufactures adhesives and other compounds. As this area is rather marginal, the company will possibly withdraw from this sector in the long-term although it has strategic importance.

Strategy

Strengthening of the market position:

International emerging brands: In the USA, Evergreen Ltd. has bought up brands which manufacture health products. Some of these brands have health conscious older men and women as their target groups. The production sites of the brands have been pooled in order to benefit from synergy effects, among others.

Brands in a top position internationally: The market position of our brands has been able to be improved exclusively by brand growth. Furthermore, costs have been able to be reduced by restructuring within the brand families.

Brands with regional strengths: For a stronger regional presence, Evergreen Ltd. acquired various Asian cosmetic manufacturers which can cost-efficiently directly manufacture on site in the respective target regions.

Objectives

Corporate Governance Objectives: Above all, the executive, advisory board and umbrella organisation are bound by them. They include:

Shareholders rights: The entitlement to an annual shareholders' meeting in which the shareholders can use their right to vote.

Obligations of the executive board and advisory board: The executive board decides on the company strategy and must regularly inform the shareholders about the company situation. When the executive board makes a decision concerning the company strategy or the remuneration of the upper management the advisory board must agree.

Remuneration: The remuneration of the members of the executive board is defined by the advisory board, while the executive board decides on the remuneration of the upper management.

Transparency: It is only guaranteed when a quarterly financial report follows.

Products & services

Adhesives: In addition to special glue, adhesives also include all-purpose glue, adhesives and glue for special materials as well as glue sticks.

Cleaning agents: Evergreen Ltd. manufactures laundry detergent and washing up liquid as universal products, as well as special products. Due to increasing product diversification, Evergreen Ltd. offers special cleaning products for limescale, against bacteria and fungus and for various special surfaces.

Beauty care: For this, the company offers body care, including body lotions, oils and creams. Cosmetics include beauty products and also face and hair care products. All cosmetics and body care products are either designed for male or female needs.

Customer enquiries concerning adhesives, laundry detergents and cleaning agents are handled by call centres and emails. The aim is to provide an informed answer to questions as quickly as possible.
