

Internship reference

Alejandro De La Espriella Landgraf, born on August 22nd 2001 in Columbia, joined Stern Stewart & Co. at our office in Munich for an internship from September 1st until November 24th 2024.

Stern Stewart & Co. is the independent strategy boutique with a truly entrepreneurial team of independent thinking personalities. The center of gravity of an open universe of cutting edge know-how. Advising clients in strategy, transaction, performance and transformation.

During his stay, Alejandro worked as part of a team of consultants on a client assignment in the electronic retail industry. The project is setup as a measure program to safeguard EBIT, mainly focusing on improvements in the commercial function to achieve commercial excellence.

His work primarily focused on supporting the following key tasks:

- » Supporting the preparation of steering committees involving the company's executive board by creating PowerPoint presentations and Excel reports
- » Creating a financial calendar in Excel, incorporating budgeting and various KPIs for multiple campaigns spanning two fiscal years, as preparation for a client workshop
- » Analyzing product availability trends and key issues across stores in Germany, including detailed overviews of department-level developments
- » Conducting market research and competitor analysis, focusing on online growth, upselling strategies, and trade-in pricing across various manufacturers
- » Assisting in the development of pricing strategies for main product categories based on KPIs such as price index, market share, margins, and online presence
- » Building a Tableau dashboard for E-commerce and Category Management to enhance departmental transparency and provide insights into sales performance and other online assortment metrics
- » Creating an overview of suppliers, SKU count, and sales volume by department following the restructuring of the organizational structure
- » Identifying pain points and underlying causes of underperformance in the online conversion rate, analyzing problematic departments, and developing actionable improvement plans

In addition to his daily project work, Alejandro contributed to our venture capital arm, "Stern Stewart Ventures," by preparing for meetings with startups, conducting due diligence, and performing market and competitor analyses.

Alejandro was a very motivated, interested, and positive intern, soon integrating himself into our working teams. His quality of work met our high standards at all times, and he fulfilled his tasks to our complete satisfaction. Due to his friendliness and helpfulness, he was well accepted by superiors, other consultants, and clients.

We wish Alejandro all the best for his private life and professional career, which we know will be successful.
