

Internship reference

Jacov Melamud, born on September 20th 1996 in Bendery, Moldawia, joined Stern Stewart & Co. at our office in Munich for an internship from August 14th until October 22nd 2023.

Stern Stewart & Co. is the independent strategy boutique with a truly entrepreneurial team of independent thinking personalities. The center of gravity of an open universe of cutting edge know-how. Advising clients in strategy, transaction, performance and transformation.

During his internship, Jacov worked within a team of consultants on a project in the healthcare industry. The scope of the project comprised the optimization of major net working capital aspects and the formulation of strategies to enhance capital efficiency. Jacov's work focused on the following key aspects:

- » Conducting intricate analyses on payment and supplier data to formulate targeted strategies for improving payables and overall net working capital
- » Developing a model for comparing financial and cash-flow planning metrics from the CFO perspective, aimed at derive net working capital improvement
- » Assisting the development of a Return on Invest Capital (ROIC) benchmarking analysis for the Biopharmaceuticals industry, facilitating the derivation of Capital Expenditure (CapEx) targets and optimal capital allocation
- » Further supporting preparation and refinement of presentations for client meetings, with a specific focus on Payables, Receivables and CapEx topics

In addition, Jacov supported our non-profit organization "The Stern Stewart Institute" with the Burkina Institute of Technology (BIT) by preparing a presentation at the "TUM Seed Center Annual Symposium" at KNUST. Furthermore, he helped ambitious students at BIT to improve their English communication skills and cross-cultural understanding for future internships.

We have known Jacov to be a reliable and proactive member of the team who possesses a detailed specialist knowledge, which he applies assuredly in his project work. Furthermore, Jacov was a very motivated, interested and positive intern, soon integrating himself into our working teams. His quality of work met our high standards at all times and he fulfilled his tasks to our complete satisfaction. Due to his friendliness and helpfulness he was well accepted by superiors, other consultants and clients.

We wish Jacov all the best for his private life and professional career, which we know will be successful.
