Dear Admissions Office, Frankfurt School of Finance and Management,

I write to recommend Tako Shantadze to be admitted into your program. I had the good fortune of employing Tako as my research assistant when I was conducting musical research in Adjara, Georgia. She had had previous experience as an exchange program in the US, and so was on list of possible assistants when I sent out a call for applications. Tako wrote promptly, in excellent English, and after I spoke to her on WhatsApp I knew she was the perfect person for the job. I gave her a fairly complex outline of the kinds of things I needed to do, and the timeframe in which I had to work. She arranged everything perfectly—bringing me to about ten different performances, some of which were going on already, and others of which she had to organize from a distance. She also served as an excellent simultaneous translator, which takes an enormous amount of skill. She also worked with me to log the performances and translate parts of them. If I had the opportunity, I would hire her full time to work for me. But she is destined for higher things and I'm sure training in Frankfurt will send her on her way well. I recommend her without reservation and enthusiastically.

Yours,
