Internship Reference – International Internship in M&A

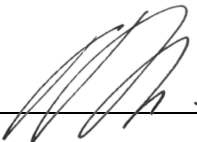

Mr Jonas Weber, born on 2 June 2002, completed an internship with our company from 21 July 2025 to 17 October 2025 (three months). His main responsibilities included, among others:

- Supporting the identification, analysis and expansion of longlists of potential target companies, including research on corporate data to support succession solutions, strategic acquisitions and buy-and-build strategies
- Assisting with comprehensive industry, competitive and company analyses (including revenue and growth rates, peer groups, industry focus, market size, competitive landscapes and consolidation trends)
- Preparing and revising presentation and transaction materials (including pitch presentations, teasers and short profiles, information memoranda and management presentations)
- Processing and analysing financials (including profit and loss statements and balance sheets), deriving relevant key figures and positions for the equity bridge, and assisting in the interpretation and presentation of results within ongoing transaction mandates

Mr Weber possesses excellent and highly versatile technical knowledge, which he always applied confidently and purposefully. He demonstrated an exceptionally quick grasp of complex matters, brought with him a broad base of experience, and was able to build up excellent expertise in corporate transactions during his internship. Particularly noteworthy is his highly developed analytical thinking, which enabled Mr Weber to act independently and as a consistently balanced and reliable member of staff, even in the most challenging situations.

Mr Weber consistently demonstrated a strong level of commitment and a constant willingness to assume additional responsibility. His pronounced intellectual curiosity was evident in the way he proactively deepened his understanding of new topics, asked targeted questions and shared insights with the team in a structured manner. Even under a heavy workload, he always delivered excellent results. Mr Weber worked with great care, diligence and precision, and could always be relied upon completely. He also found effective solutions to unforeseen challenges, which he implemented successfully and independently when required. Overall, Mr Weber completed all assigned tasks to our complete satisfaction in every respect.

Mr Weber's personal conduct was always exemplary. Owing to his collegiality and constant helpfulness, he was highly regarded and well-liked by both supervisors and colleagues. He represented our company in an exemplary manner and to the highest standard. We wish him continued success and every success in his future career and personal endeavours.
